

We Gain More Glamorous Quarters As The College Celebrates Maturity

Twenty-one years ago civic-minded citizens of Joplin polled a majority of votes and established Joplin Junior College. This institution has lasted during the ensuing years with some difficulty and some luck.

The initial class sessions were held in 1937 in the Joplin Senior High School building and it wasn't until September 6, 1938, that the College moved to the old high school building at Fourth Street and Byers Avenue. The old building had been refurbished to accommodate the junior college students. Since that time, it has been condemned and propped up a series of times.

History Repeats Itself?

This year the Junior College moves to another old high school building. This one, however, is in much better condition and its facilities are more than adequate to suit Junior College needs at present. Perhaps in the not so distant future history will again have to repeat itself.

The $50,000 bond voted to found J.J.C. has paid for itself over and over again in good solid citizens, and in many other contributions to the community. The same may be said for the bond issue which enabled the Junior College to move up in educating ambitious young men and women.

Many adaptations have been made in this time-honored structure to fit the needs of older, more serious minds. A tremendous force of carpenters, painters, stone-masons, pipe fitters and their helpers have assaulted the building, knocking out walls, pulling down ceilings, and pushing up floors. They've converted small departments into large ones, crowded places into spacious ones, and ugly places into pretty ones.

Major Changes Made

One of their extensive contributions is a Juco Little Theatre. The partitions were knocked out of two rooms in the northwest corner on the first floor. A hardwood stage was built at the west end, with windows on the north providing well-lighted practice space. An area for the new Junior College library was provided by changing three rooms into large study rooms and stack rooms on the northeast corner of the first floor.

The science and chemistry departments also received a face lift. The chemistry department was changed from one small lecture room and a slightly larger laboratory work room into a section capable of handling two large classes simultaneously.

One of the most glamorous renovations was accomplished in the music department. The carpenters' turn for culture provides the musicians with three sound proof practice rooms, a large chorus room, and various other study rooms.

Business, English, foreign language, and history departments also profited from the remodeling.

Old Joplin High School students, who are returning to the building to continue their College education, had to look twice to recognize some sections. Basically, just about the only things that haven't been changed are the halls, stairways, and a few rooms.

More Space for Clubs

Service clubs, political clubs, and other organizations will now be able to meet in peace in separate rooms and have a place to keep important records and a treasury. No longer will advisors hold those quiet little battles to see which club gets to meet in the room above the cafeteria.

Yes, the Junior College finally made it. Now it has a good solid building of its own in which to build strong, productive foundations for future graduates. It is now a place that can be proud of its appearance and its students. Before it could only be proud of its students.

Federal Office of Education Checks Community Service Here

Joplin Junior College has been selected as one of 12 junior colleges in the nation to be a sample organization for a field study of community service.

Miss Inge Jordahn, a graduate student at the University of Texas, and Roland Lanzer, a graduate student at the University of Missouri, are conducting the five-week study, which is sponsored by the United States Office of Education.

The investigators started gathering data on September 1 in the following areas: the nature of community service programs; the comprehensiveness of the program in relation to community needs; factors in the community and the college which expiate or inhibit the program; and administrative machinery associated with the program.

The researchers will collect their information by studying records of the College, by interviewing members of the staff, and by interviewing Joplin residents.

The complete study is under the direction of Dr. James W. Reynolds,

Two lonely painters are shown putting the final touches on the College's sparkling new Little Theatre. Milton Brietzke's drama students will have ample space and quiet in order to polish their usually outstanding performances even more.

Enrollment Surpasses All Previous Records

Smashing all past enrollment records, 673 students registered for the fall term at J.J.C. Prior to this year, the high enrollment for daytime classes was 534 students recorded in the fall semester of 1957, to exceed the 1946 record standing at 531.

Dean Maurice L. Litton said enrollment for freshmen surpassed all expected figures with freshmen enrolling last Friday and sophomores enrolling last Thursday. Additional enrollment periods last Saturday and Wednesday pushed the figures over the expected number, when several late students registered.

Enrollment of students went slightly behind schedule last week, because registration had been geared to accept 550 students.

Juco enrollment has been on the rise yearly, since the end of World War II. A breakdown of the enrollment in the last three years is as follows: 1956, 406; 1955, 447; 1954, 443.

Although no breakdown of the enrollment according to towns, states, and foreign countries was available at the time The Chart went to press, indications are that the student body will be composed of representatives from nearly every town in the district, and from several states and foreign countries.

Night School To Offer 20 Credit Classes

The Joplin Junior College night school will offer a full academic schedule of 20 credit hours this fall for the first time. Adults registered for night courses at 6:30 September 10 and 11 in the College, according to James R. Stratton.

The adult education director explained that classes will be taught Monday through Friday at a cost of $6 per semester hour, plus a book deposit fee. Those taking 1-5 semester hours will pay $5 and receive a $3 refund at the completion of the semester. Adults taking more than 5 semester hours must pay $10 but will receive a $6 refund.

In addition to the charge per semester hour and the book deposit, each person must pay a matriculation fee of $1.

All night courses are open to any adult. Students regularly enrolled at J.J.C. who take 12 semester hours, or fewer, may enroll in night school at no additional cost. Those who take more than 12 hours must pay the additional night course fees.

Sophomore Dick Baker is unpacking for Instructor James Maupin, who is in charge of textbooks. Owing to the tremendous growth of the College, textbooks are no longer the responsibility of the librarian.

Stop to Consider?

The opening of school catches us in a whirl of dates, dances, and get acquainted parties, but also with the opening of school comes work and responsibility. An event in the near future will select those who should be capable of making moral decisions and discharging many obligations.

At the general election on September 30 we will go to the polls to vote for our favorite candidates, candidates seeking positions as our representatives in the student government. They need support.

Yet, before campaigning for our favorites, will we stop to consider? Stop to consider whether or not our candidate is a leader, one who deserves support?

As in the past, many students will seek the coveted offices. And, as in the past, some will seek the honor who have no intention of fulfilling the obligations. These candidates do not deserve support.

To be a leader, a student must be willing to fulfill his obligations in a manner befitting himself and us, the ones who have selected him. He must be willing to maintain a respectable grade point average, to attend the school activities, to plan for the betterment of his school, and to take an active part in school organizations.

On September 30 we must decide. But will we have stopped to consider? Will we have discovered that the words "popularity" and "leadership" are not always synonymous? If we have, and vote accordingly, then we will have chosen our leaders wisely. If not, then we have no "gripes" if the student government does not function efficiently and to our liking.

Jay S. Carter Becomes a Partner In Large Firm

Jay S. Carter has been admitted to a partnership in the firm of Arthur Anderson and Company. The St. Louis auditing and accounting company made the announcement.

The Juco graduate is married to Jerry Bengé, a former homecoming queen.

'56 Graduate Receives Appointment

All who wish to try out may do so; all that is required is interest. Anyone unable to attend the session may contact Milton W. Brietzke, dramatics instructor, to arrange a substitute date. Scripts may be obtained from the library a week in advance of tryouts.

A Message From Our Dean

"I am sure that you are proud to be a part of this new movement that has carried Joplin Junior College into a position to offer an expanded program of education.

"I would like to extend a very hearty welcome to new students who will soon become familiar faces and to old students returning to complete their junior college education.

"The faculty and I feel that this year carries within it the hope and promise of a bright future, both for you as students and you as future citizens.

"Our present building has undergone some drastic changes and will soon be in perfect condition for a program such as ours. We feel that with our returning upperclassmen and the promising class of freshmen we will turn the 1958-59 school year into a memorable one."

"Again, welcome and the very best of luck to each of you."

Top Sophomores Receive Annual Blaine Awards

This year's Blaine scholarships went to Joyce Elliff and Byron Gilbreath. The awards are given to the boy and girl having the highest scholastic average at the completion of their freshman year. Joyce rated a 3.0 average for the first year and Byron had 2.91.

The scholarships, given in memory of Juco's first Dean, pay the students tuition for the sophomore year. The awards, first given in 1957, went to Ramona Kunkel and Larry Catron.

The Sack

By Donna Engle

Some teenagers advocate the sack,
Others look upon it with disfavor.
Some would decrease the obvious slack;

Others feel there's much to savor.

Oldsters too take their positions;
Some oppose and some are for.

Many say today's fashions
Recall mem'ries of yore.

Back then they danced the Charleston step,

And the flappers did their bit.

Today they bop and look quite hep,

And in a sack they score a hit.

College Welcomes Teachers in Five Departments

Five new instructors have become members of the faculty this fall, one of whom is a former Joplin Junior College graduate. Four will fill vacancies and the fifth has been added to the social studies department.

Harold Manker, a Juco graduate, will teach algebra, trigonometry, and plane geometry. After graduating in 1955, he attended Kansas State Teachers' College where he received both his B.S. and M.S. degrees. He also worked in the vocational department there.

Manker enjoys music and originally intended to make it his major. During his two years here he actively participated in Theta Mu Gamma, Kappa Mu Epsilon, and Phi Theta Kappa.

The Mankers Graduated Here

Mrs. Manker, who is also a J. J. C. graduate, (Toby Jean Baker) is teaching at North Junior High.

Another new instructor, who will teach English and fundamentals of speech, is Mrs. Gordon Smith of Stephens, Arkansas. Mrs. Smith received her Master of Arts degree from the University of Arkansas, where she did some teaching. She has also taught in high schools at Stephens and Magnolia, Arkansas.

When asked her first impression of Joplin, she replied: "It's bigger than the other towns where I've lived and I only know one street—Wall."

Alumni Influence Her

The English teacher mentioned that she has known former Juco students who now attend the University of Arkansas. She stated that they all have done well scholastically and implied that this was one of her primary reasons for deciding to come to Joplin.

Mrs. Smith enjoys gardening and cooking. When talking of sports, she enthusiastically stated, "I love all sports—baseball, basketball, and football."

The instructor has recently had an interesting experience as both she and her son, Don, attended the University of Arkansas while she was completing work on her master's degree.

Wayne Gilbert comes to Juco from the University of Texas where he received his B.A. degree in psychology. All he needs to complete his M.A. degrees in both psychology and sociology is a thesis.

Since graduating from Joplin Senior High, Gilbert has had many fascinating and varied occupations. During his term in the United States Air Force, he was a staff sergeant and worked as an airplane mechanic. While attending San Antonio State College, the psychology instructor worked as an oxygen therapist, and at Austin State Hospital he served as a legal and business psychology grader.

His previous teaching experience includes instructing third graders at High Island, Texas.

Both Gilberts Teach

Although he attended Joplin High, Gilbert states, "Eastmorland is entirely new to me." The instructor is married and has two children, Michael Wayne, 3½, and Charlotte Diane, 19 months. Mrs. Gilbert is teaching in an elementary school.

A replacement in the physical science department is Harrison Kash of Webb City. The chemistry instructor obtained his B.S.

degree at K.S.T.C. and his M. S. degree at Kansas State College in Manhattan.

One From Industry

Kash comes to the College after working for the past year and a half at the Corn Products Refining Company of Argo, Illinois.

The instructor enjoys collecting classical records and experimenting with photography. Another of his varied interests includes viewing foreign films, but he adds sadly that Joplin doesn't have enough of them. Kash enjoys sports and says, "I'm trying to learn tennis. I'm not very good at it, though."

He now lives in Webb City with his grandfather where they have recently completed re-decorating their home.

One From High School

Although Clarence Cowan will teach business courses at the College for the first time this fall, he is no stranger in the Joplin school system. Previously, he has served as the Distributive Education director at the Joplin High School. In addition to his experience at the High School, Cowan has also taught in the high schools at Butler and Bolivar.

The new business instructor received his B.S. degree at Southwest Missouri State College and his M. E. degree from the University of Missouri.

During the war Cowan had the interesting experience of living in South America. He served as the technical representative for the Pratt Whitney Aircraft Engines of East Hartford, Connecticut.

The teacher enjoys fishing and claims that it is both his favorite sport and his primary hobby. He is the father of three children. Duane graduated from Junior College last spring and now attends the University of Kansas, Patricia will be a senior at the High School, and Bobby attends Irving Grade School.

J.J.C. Classmen Attend Fall Mixer

Many Jucoites attended the annual school mixer at 7:30 Monday night at the College. A variety of entertainment and an atmosphere of friendliness helped to make an enjoyable evening for all.

The program, planned by the Cabinet, included a "get acquainted" session in the gym; games and contests in the Little Theatre; a floor show in the auditorium; refreshments in the cafeteria; and dancing in the gym.

Nominations Of Student Body Officers Begin

Following Wednesday's orientation assembly, students began nominating candidates for student body administrative positions. Nominations will be accepted until 4 o'clock Wednesday.

The primary election will be held following a campaign assembly next Friday morning. On September 26 the classes will elect officers and nominate students to fill the senatorships. Tuesday, September 30, has been set as the date for the general election. At this time students will select the Student Senate officers and Senate members. The class officers and Senate members will be installed at an assembly October 1.

According to the constitution, a student must have completed at least 27 college hours with a minimum grade average of "M" to be eligible to fill the position of president, vice-president, secretary, treasurer, or parliamentarian. At least 13 of the 27 hours must have been earned at Joplin Junior College.

Besides meeting the above requirements, the student body officers are required to discharge their duties in an appropriate manner and to have a genuine interest in the welfare to the students and their college.

Robert Pfisterer Receives $500 Bond

Robert Pfisterer, a 1956 Juco graduate and now a senior at the Missouri School of Mines and Metallurgy at Rolla, has received a $500 United States Savings Bond from the chemical sales division of Charles Pfizer and Company, Inc.

He was awarded the bond for being the outstanding member of a summer project originated by the Pfizer company to demonstrate the results of a chemical research oil production program. The presentation was made in Dallas.

Pfisterer, a chemical engineering major, has spent the last 10 weeks in oil fields of the Southwest, along with 19 other chemical engineering students from the country's top colleges.

Don Staggs of Carthage, tackle, and Jack Golden of Joplin, end, go through some of the rough tackling and blocking techniques Stegge expects of them.

Circle K Sophomores Back From Convention

Dick Baker and Terry Dixon, sophomores, attended the International Circle K Convention August 27 to 29 at Sam Houston State Teachers' College in Huntsville, Texas.

The president and the secretary of the Joplin Circle K were the only two delegates from Missouri. Approximately 300 were present from all over the United States and Canada.

They attended a series of conferences and banquets during the three-day meeting. All delegates were guests of the famous Lost Indian Camp Dude Ranch near Huntsville.

The two Joplin delegates encountered some difficulty in reaching the campsite. They were driving Dixon's car and it got only as far as Fayetteville when it threw a rod and had to be abandoned. Next they caught a bus, which broke down after a short 20-mile trek. Then they caught another bus and this one took them about 150 miles out of their way.
